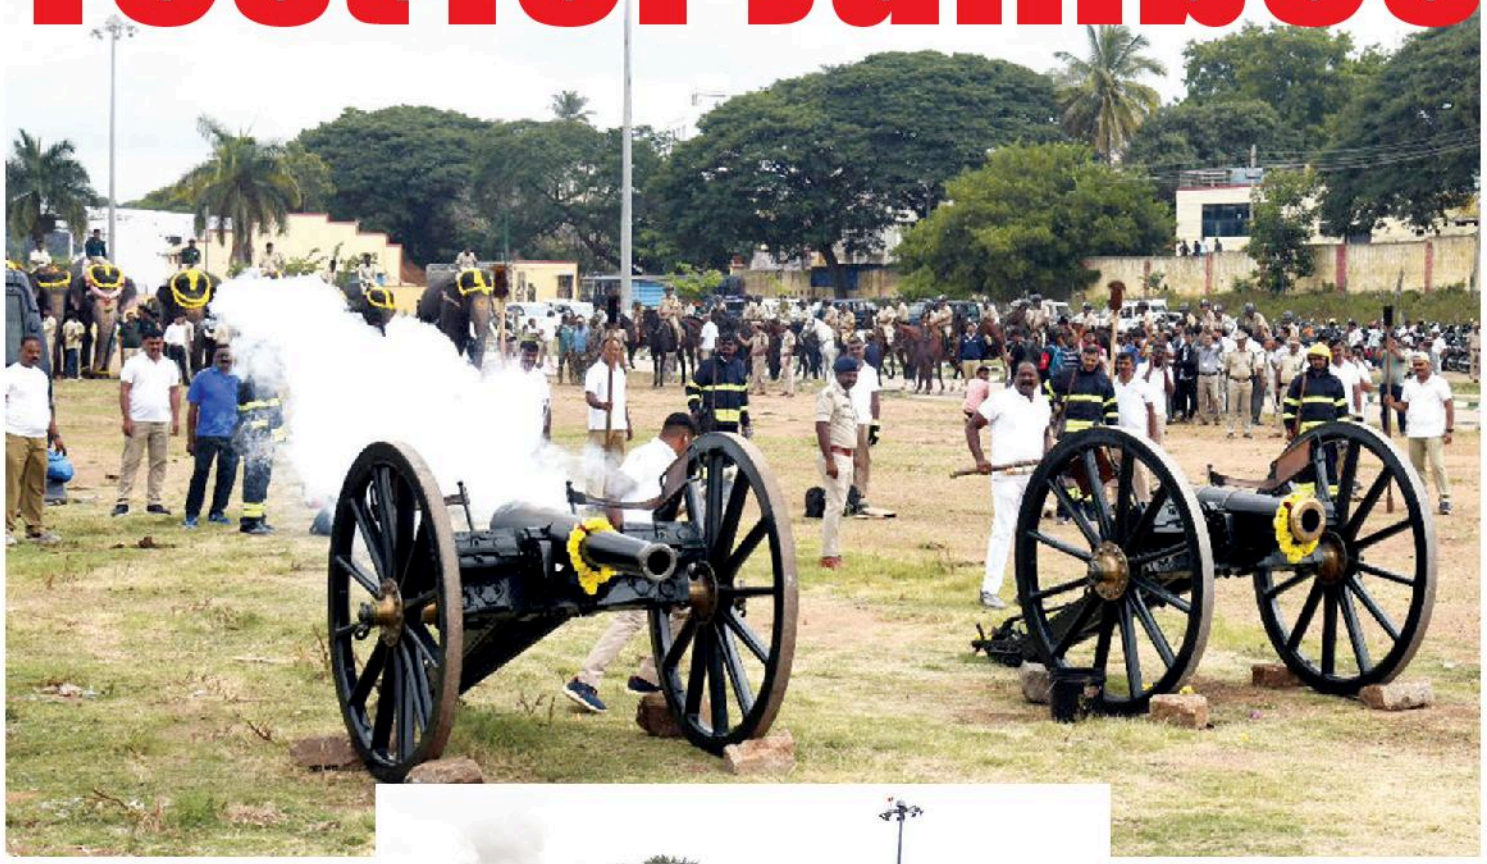
BOOM Test for Jumbos



Mysuru, Sept. 15 (MTY&KS)- The first round of cannon firing rehearsal to acclimatise the Dasara elephants and horses of the Mounted Police to the thunderous sounds of cannons was successfully conducted this morning at the Dasara Exhibition parking lot, marking an important step in the preparations for the grand finale of the Mysuru Dasara celebrations.

All 14 Dasara elephants, led by the majestic Golden Howdah carrier Abhimanyu, were ceremoniously brought from the Mysore Palace premises through the Jayamarthanda Gate.

After crossing the Bengaluru-Nilgiri Road, the herd was received at the entrance of the Dasara Exhibition Grounds by Karnataka Exhibition Authority (KEA) Chairman Ayub Khan, CEO Rudresh and other officials.

As a mark of respect and tradition, Ayub Khan and his team performed special puja to the elephants, showering them with flower petals before they were allowed entry into the premises.

"It is a proud moment to welcome the Dasara elephants to the Exhibition Grounds. Performing puja and showering flowers is our way of honouring their role in this historic festival," Ayub Khan said.

Cannon types, gunpowder

Once inside, the elephants were led to the parking area near Mahatma Gandhi Road, where they were joined by 38 horses from the Mounted Police force. The combined drill aimed to prepare both animals for the loud, booming sounds they will face during the Jumboo Savari procession on Vijayadashami Day.

Seven cannons — three short-barreled and four long-barreled cannons — were lined up by the Pirangi Dal team. 1.8 kg of gunpowder was used for each short-barrel cannon shot and 1.2 kg of gunpowder was used for each long-barrel cannon shot. In total, 35 to 38 kg of gunpowder was consumed for firing 21 shots.

As it was the first rehearsal, a two-minute interval was maintained between shots to allow the elephants and horses to relax and adjust.

A Division Bench comprising Chief Justice Vibhu Bakhru and Justice C.M. Accordingly, the petitions are dismissed."

The petitions were filed by former Mysuru-Kodagu MP Prathap Simha, T. Girish Kumar, R. Sowmya and H.S. Gaurav from Bengaluru, seeking a direction to the State Government to withdraw the invitation extended to Banu Mushtaq.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

AVOID BLAMING OTHERS: When King Pareekshit sees a bull and a cow being beaten by a man dressed like a king, he says, "Why do you torment these creatures? Did you think that because the Pandavas are no more, you can do so? I, as their representative, will ensure that justice is done." The bull praises Pareekshit for following in the footsteps of the Pandavas. The bull has only one leg and Pareekshit asks it who is responsible for its state. The bull is, in fact, Dharma devata, said Valayapet Ramachariar in a discourse.

Instead of blaming anyone, Dharma devata says different people have different theories about his suffering. The atheists do not believe in papa or punya. But there are some who say the bull suffers because of its karma. Some say it is just svabhava (nature) doing its job. Thus, the bull does not point fingers at anyone, further reinforcing the fact that it is the devata of Dharma. It is said in the Sastras that we must avoid blaming others for something that happens. The bull acts in accordance with this dharmic rule, when it does not blame anyone directly for its plight. One who knows dharma is aware that everything happens according to God's plans. There is now no doubt in Pareekshit's mind that the bull is Dharma devata, for how else would it know the intricacies of dharmic laws? He tells the bull that he has recognised it as Dharma devata.

Dharma sastras say we must not betray anyone. Suppose a thief hides in your house. If the men chasing him ask you about the thief, you must lie to protect him! The thief has taken refuge in your house, and you must not do anything that will harm him. If he is betrayed, then his sins will come to the account of the one who betrays him. — In The Hindu

Man almost loses arm after thief bites

Uskudar: An elderly shopkeeper in Turkey almost lost his left arm after his hand became seriously infected as a result of a human bite during an attempted robbery.

In early 2024, a 60-year-old shop owner was robbed while working at his store in Uskudar, a district of Istanbul. Two masked men entered the shop with the clear intention of stealing, so the owner tried to stop them. In the struggle, the shopkeeper managed to immobilise one of the thieves, who bit his hand hard in a desperate attempt to escape.

Overwhelmed by the pain, the shop owner let go of the thief. He later went to a hospital, where doctors said that he was suffering from an infection caused by the robber's bite. Faced with the risk of amputation, the hospital decided to try hyperbaric oxygen therapy, which can help wounds heal more quickly. The doctors' bet paid off and within a week, the patient had made significant improvements.

Race car driver caught after six years

Prague: The driver of a mysterious Ferrari-like Formula 2 race car was caught by Czech Police six years after the car's presence on the country's motorways.

In 2019, Czech Police began receiving reports about a red Formula 1 race car speeding on motorways. The vehicle was caught on surveillance cameras, but because the driver was always wearing a visor helmet, he was impossible to identify, so the case against them was dropped.

For the next six years, the race car driver only grew in the central European country and Police struggled to identify him. Lady Luck finally smiled on them last Sunday, when the red race car was spotted at a gas station near Dobris, 25 miles southwest of Prague. Police managed to trace the driver at Buk, 37 miles from the Czech capital.

Let Kukkarahalli Lake remain unspoilt

Sir,

I am a very senior citizen walking around the pristine Kukkarahalli Lake every day.

Every time I see another concerned senior citizen writing about the maintenance of Kukkarahalli Lake, I am constrained to point out that Kukkarahalli Kere in its present state is unique and unspoilt, a rare piece of nature in the heart of a bustling city.

As I have pointed out earlier, we live in an anthropocentric world. I often see people playing music loudly on their phones while walking around the Lake with no consideration for the birds, other wildlife and walkers.

I hear senior citizens asking for bright lights again, not thinking that the birds might like to be undisturbed in their natural habitat from dusk to dawn.

And asking for the paths to be improved, as it is difficult for seniors to navigate — these unconcreted paths are a rarity these days and are much gentler on the knees than the ubiquitous concrete pavers seen in parks these days.

In my opinion, the Lake does not need any embellishment. For us, daily walkers, the changing seasons itself is such a pleasure, with the changing greenery and nesting birds. I would not wish for any of it to be changed.

Scrap NRI quota in Medical seats: AIDSO

Mysuru, Sept.15 (GA&DM)- Demanding scrapping of NRI (Non-Resident Indian) quota seats in Government Medical Colleges, the AIDSO (All India Democratic Students Organisation) staged a demonstration in front of the Deputy Commissioner's Office here recently.

Addressing the protesters, AIDSO District Secretary Nithin said that the State Government has decided to introduce 15 percent NRI quota seats in Government Medical Colleges from 2025-26. This decision will crash the dreams of poor students who are aspiring medical education, he maintained.

Already, there is 15 percent NRI seats under All India quota. If the State Government introduces NRI quota, the students of the State will only get 140 of the 200 seats in a batch. Also, the Government's decision is a dangerous one aimed at making Government Medical Colleges as profit centres just like private establishments. As such, the Government should drop its plans of NRI quota introduction in Government Medical Colleges, Nithin argued.

AIDSO office-bearers Chandrakala, Swathi, Chandrika, Disha, Anjali and others took part in the protest.

'Cancer no longer a foreign disease'

Mysuru, Sept. 15 (MK&BS)- Dr. Vijayalakshmi Deshmane, Padma Shri awardee and retired Director of Kidwai Memorial Institute of Oncology, Bengaluru, has voiced serious concern over the alarming rise of cancer cases in India, noting that a disease once seen as "foreign" has now become deeply rooted in the country.

Yesterday being a Sunday, more crowd was witnessed at the Yuva Sambhrama venue as young audience from across the city and surrounding places flocked to the Open Air Theatre to watch the programme.

'Yuva Dasara must showcase local culture, tradition'

Mysuru, Sept. 15 (TRR)- Former Mayor Sandesh Swamy has urged that Yuva Dasara, an integral part of the annual Dasara celebrations, should serve as a platform to showcase local heritage, tradition and nativity, rather than glorifying foreign culture.

"Every year, Rs. 4 to Rs. 5 crore is spent on organising Yuva Dasara. Huge sums — running into lakhs — are paid to artistes invited from other States to perform. However, instead of promoting our rich legacy, the event is increasingly highlighting foreign cultural trends, which is a disrespect to our heritage. The organisers must seriously reflect on this and take corrective measures," Sandesh Swamy said.

He criticised the current lineup of performances, saying they have become monotonous, often repeating songs and dances that are already commonly seen in films and TV shows.

"Yuva Dasara has immense potential to present programmes that celebrate our language, arts, literature, music, dance and culture, while also conveying important social messages. The event should aim to engage today's youth by introducing them to our rich traditions through innovative and meaningful presentations," he appealed.

Chandeliers to sparkle at Palace Durbar Hall

Mysuru, Sept. 15 (LNY,PM& BCT)- With just over a week left for the grand inauguration of Dasara-2025 and only a day remaining for the assembling of the Golden Throne inside the iconic Durbar Hall of the Mysore Palace, maintenance work on the royal chandeliers has begun in full swing.

On Sept. 16, entry to the Palace will be restricted from 10 am to 1 pm to facilitate religious rituals related to Sharannavarathri and the ceremonial assembling of the Golden Throne.

The Mysore Palace Board has undertaken the upkeep of the priceless chandeliers that adorn the ceilings of the Public Durbar Hall, Private Durbar Hall and Kalyana Mantap ahead of the Navarathri festivities. The process includes thoroughly cleaning the chandeliers with soap and water and replacing fused bulbs to ensure dazzling illumination during the celebrations.

Scaffolding has been erected to access the towering ceilings for cleaning, not just the grand chandeliers but also the dome and pearl chandeliers in hues of white, red and green. These exquisite chandeliers were imported from Czechoslovakia around 1926, making them nearly a century old and invaluable pieces of heritage.

"A significant part of the preparations involves cleaning the ornate Czech-made chandeliers in the Public and Private Durbar Halls and replacing fused bulbs to ensure they shine brilliantly throughout the festivities," said T.S. Subramanya, Deputy Director, Mysore Palace Board.

In total, over 150 chandeliers of varying shapes and sizes are being cleaned. These chandeliers add to the grandeur of the Palace's interiors, particularly in the Khas Durbar Hall and Kalyana Mantap, where dome-shaped chandeliers complement the ornate ceilings adorned with intricate paintings and Italian marble flooring.

Among these, the Public Durbar Hall houses nine chandeliers, the Private Durbar Hall has eight, while the Kalyana Mantap features one massive chandelier along with four smaller ones, each contributing to the Palace's majestic splendour.

Another leading contender, Authum Investment & Infrastructure Ltd., headquartered in Mumbai, has also expressed interest in the project, which is estimated to cost Rs. 2,663 crore.

The proposed Amusement Park will span 198 acres and will include water parks, roller coasters, a massive Goddess Cauvery statue and even a penguin park. The project will be developed under the Public-Private Partnership (PPP) model.

Once the most qualified agency is identified, the financial bidding phase will be initiated. The company quoting the highest bid amount will be awarded the project, which involves construction from scratch, operation and maintenance, with revenue sharing between the company and the State Government, officials explained.

The selected company will also be authorised to collect tolls, parking charges and entry fees, with a portion of the revenue going to CNNL.

In addition to the Brindavan Gardens makeover, the State Government has allocated Rs. 92 crore for the Cauvery Aarti project, aimed at creating a spiritual and cultural attraction near KRS Dam.

However, both the Amusement Park and the Cauvery Aarti project are facing strong opposition from farmers, who have raised concerns about Dam safety.

Farmer groups have approached the Karnataka High Court, seeking to halt the projects. During the last hearing, the Court directed the State Government to submit a comprehensive feasibility report, including safety assessments for both initiatives. The date for the next hearing is yet to be scheduled, CNNL officials said.

No one can stop Cauvery Aarti: Dy.CM D.K. Shivakumar

Shivakumar

Malavalli (Mandya), Sept. 15 (MR&BCT)- Deputy Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar said that no one can stop the Cauvery Aarti at Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam, a programme dedicated to paying tribute to Mother Nature, despite objections from a few farmers' associations and their appeal to the Court.

Speaking at the valedictory of Jalapathotsava held at Gaganachukki here yesterday, Shivakumar asserted that no one can prevent the worship of nature.

"Cauvery is our sacred mother. While our biological mother gave us life, Mother Cauvery has sustained us with food and water. She has been instrumental in agriculture, electricity generation, and the overall progress of our State. Some farmers' associations have opposed the Aarti and taken the matter to Court, but no one can stop the worship of Mother Nature," he declared.

The Deputy CM highlighted that Karnataka's tourism policy is being reshaped to boost tourism-led development, which has already generated 1.5 lakh jobs.

He urged farmers, students, and youth to actively engage with tourism and explore Karnataka's rich historical and cultural heritage. Plans are being drawn up in collaboration with the Departments of Tourism, Education and Primary Education to organise educational tours to important heritage and ecological sites.

"Over the last two years, Mandya district alone has received Rs. 2,000 crore in funding for development works, with Rs. 1,970 crore already sanctioned. If anyone doubts this, let the Opposition verify it," he challenged.

Mandya District Minister N. Cheluvarayaswamy, MLAs P.M. Narendra Swamy, Ravikumar Ganiga, MLC Dinesh Gooligowda, DC Dr. Kumara and others were present.

Throughout the day, a variety of cultural programmes entertained the crowds. The evening featured captivating performances by comedian Gangavati Pranesh, music director Gurukiran, actresses Harshika Poonacha and Bhavana Rao, and popular actor Ravichandran, bringing the two-day waterfall festival to a grand finale.

Slight panic reaction

To gradually prepare the animals, the session began with loud crackers. Initially, elephants Srikanta and Hemavathi panicked slightly at the first explosion but calmed down after the second round.

When the actual cannon firing began, Hemavathi, Srikanta and Prashantha initially displayed signs of fear and turned their backs to the cannons. However, by the third round of firing, they regained composure.

In contrast, elephants Abhimanyu, Bhima, Gopi, Prashantha and Mahendra showed remarkable courage, approaching the cannons fearlessly, even sniffing the smoke from the gunpowder before returning to their positions.

Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) Dr. I.B. Prabhu Gowda confirmed that the first rehearsal went on smoothly, with the elephants adapting well to the booming cannon sounds. "Two more rehearsals will be held in the coming days to ensure they are fully prepared," he said.

City Police Commissioner Seema Latkar added that safety was prioritised throughout the event. Fire-resistant jackets and helmets were provided to the Pirangi Dal team and the general public was strictly barred from entering the area during the drill.

The event was closely monitored by senior officials, including DCPs R.N. Bindu Mani and K.S. Sundar Raj, City Armed Reserve DCP Siddanagowda Patil, Mounted Police Commandant Maruthi and Palace Security ACP Chandrashekar.

Book Talk

'If Only They Knew: A Crime Fiction Story'

If Only They Knew,' the debut novel by Bengaluru-based medical practitioner Madhavi N. Gunasheela, is a crime thriller, intertwining nature, culture and mystery, played out in the southern city of Madurai and neighbouring areas and a few characters are from the indigenous Paliyan tribe of the Palani Hills.

Madhavi

The novel's protagonist Alagavel is a smart, ambitious young entrepreneur, embodying the mindset of many youngsters setting out to make their mark in life.

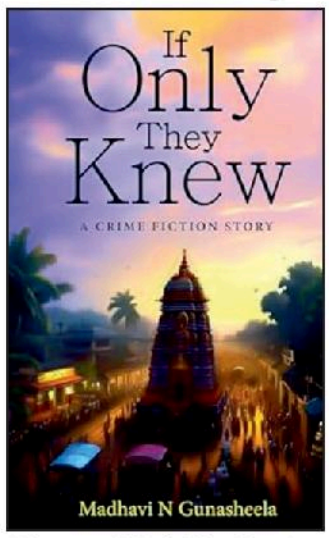
He owns a travel company 'Trailblazers' and leads his team into a lucrative business which works for and against them.

Through Alagavel's ethical dilemmas, the author explores how ambition can sometimes cloud judgement and lead to unintended consequences.

She emphasises that having a strong moral compass and the courage to pause and evaluate choices can help navigate even the toughest situations.

This is Madhavi's second book, the first being a compilation of short stories 'A Brigand for a Night and Other Tales' in 2012.

Madhavi's storytelling avoids the easy traps of sensationalism. She does not lean on shock value or melodrama. Instead, she adopts a steady, introspective tone that allows the narrative to breathe. The story unfolds in layers, drawing the reader deeper with each turn. One can see this skill when she explores Alagavel's relationship with his team where loyalty, suspicion and quiet rivalries are explored with emotional precision. These interactions feel lived-in, giving the novel a sense of authenticity.



Title : 'If Only They Knew'
Author : Madhavi N. Gunasheela
Year : 2025
Pages : 365
Price : Rs. 502
Publisher : White Falcon Publishing

Equally compelling is Madhavi's engagement with larger questions such as: What does success demand of us? and what are we willing to trade in return? She frames her plot against the eternal tensions of fate versus free will, and shows how even small ethical compromises exact a profound toll on the soul. Though structured as crime fiction, the book transcends genre, challenging the reader to reflect on the boundaries of personal integrity. A good read indeed.

MLC demands immediate appointment of Guest Lecturers

Mysuru, Sept. 15- With reports of classes not going on regularly due to lack of lecturers in degree colleges, MLC K. Vivekananda has urged the Government to immediately appoint Guest Lecturers in Govt. First Grade Colleges.

In a letter written to Higher Education Minister Dr. M.C. Sudhakar, the Principal Secretary of Higher Education Department and Commissioner for Collegiate Education, K. Vivekananda highlighted that due to the delay in the appointment of Guest Lecturers, classes were not going on as per the time-table in Degree Colleges and as a consequence, the students are facing a situation where they have to write Semester Exams without receiving lessons.

Asking the Government not to play with the future of students, he urged the Higher Education Department to start counselling for appointment of Guest Lecturers.

He further wanted the Government not to discriminate between UGC qualified and non-UGC qualified candidates in appointment of Guest Lecturers and to give first priority for those lecturers who have done years of service in appointments.

The MLC, in his letter, also urged the Dept. to find a solution to the dispute pending in the Court regarding Guest Lecturer issues.

WORD OF THE DAY

Consummate

Pronunciation: KAHN-suh-mut (Adjective)

Meaning: Someone or something described as consummate is very skilled or accomplished. Consummate can also mean "of the highest degree" and "complete in every detail." The adjective is always used before the noun it describes.

Origin: Consummate is a consummate example of a word that's shifted in meaning over the centuries. A 15th century addition to the language ultimately from Latin consummare, meaning "to sum up, finish," the word first described something that has been brought to completion. Shakespeare used the word this way in Measure for Measure: "Do you the office, friar; which consummate, Return him here again." By the early 16th century consummate had taken on the meaning of "complete in every detail." Today it usually describes someone or something extremely skilled and accomplished, but it can also describe that which is supremely excellent, as well as that which is simply extreme.

Example: "...KEM's legacy serves as a blueprint for excellence. Offstage, his charm extends beyond the microphone. Friends and collaborators describe him as a consummate gentleman and leader with an infectious sense of humour." —Raquelle Harris, Vibe, 25 July 2025

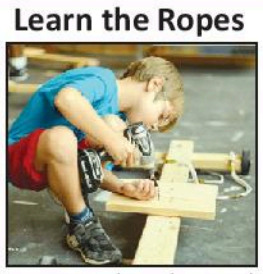
THE ODD WORD

Phlegmatic

Shows little or no emotion.

IDIOM OF THE DAY

Learn the Ropes



Meaning: Learn the ropes means to learn how to do something.

Origin: Not surprisingly, the origin of the idiom "learn the ropes" is nautical. Before the days of ships powered by steam or fossil fuel, almost all ships had sails. New recruits had to learn how to tie knots and manipulate the ropes that moved the sails to capture wind most effectively; this series of lessons was termed "learning the ropes."

Example: "Once I learn the ropes at my new job, I won't be so nervous and I'll be very good at the work I do."

CRYPTOQUIP

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

Konnakkol workshop on Sept. 28

Mysuru, Sept. 15 (BCT)- Mysuru will host a Konnakkol Workshop by Vidwan B.R. Somashekar Jois on Sept. 28 from 10 am to 12 pm at Kalpa Kshetra in Vijayanagar 4th Stage.

Somashekar Jois

The event is jointly organised by World Konnakkol Academy LLP and Bamboo Melody Raagas. The workshop is free for learners above 10 years of age, with sessions tailored for beginners and intermediate-level participants. However, prior registration is mandatory.

This introductory session offers a rare opportunity for music and dance students as well as passionate aspirants to experience the authentic art of presenting Konnakkol. The focus will be on vocal development, enunciation, rhythmic precision, mastery over rhythm and gaining a deeper understanding of musical mathematics.

About Konnakkol

Konnakkol is an ancient South Indian art form that involves orally articulating percussive syllables in association with Karnatak Classical Music.

With roots stretching back over 5,000 years, it is regarded as the world's most intricate and aesthetically refined vocal rhythmic system — celebrated for its unmatched complexity, depth, and range. Beyond being a rhythmic language, Konnakkol serves as a gateway to understanding the mathematical intricacies of Tāla and Laya.

Practising Konnakkol enhances speech clarity, emotional balance, intellectual sharpness, peace of mind and inner vitality, impacting practitioners at physical, psychological and spiritual levels.

Profile

Vidwan B.R. Somashekar Jois is a globally renowned Konnakkol exponent, performer and educator. Recognised as an 'A-Top Grade' artiste by Prasar Bharati (AIR & DD), he holds the distinction of being the youngest, first from Karnataka, and only the second in India to receive this prestigious honour.

Known for his sonorous voice, distinctive timbre and lightning-fast clarity, he has been instrumental in reviving and mainstreaming Konnakkol as a prominent performing art.

As Founder and Director of the World Konnakkol Academy LLP — the world's first conservatory dedicated solely to this art form — his initiatives now reach over 25 countries, inspiring 1,000+ students and enthusiasts through performances, lectures, masterclasses and collaborations with eminent artists worldwide.

For registrations, WhatsApp Vidwan Rakesh Sudhir on Mob: 97415-16637.
